_____ has made application to the College of Social Work PhD Program and submitted your name as a reference. Social work students are carefully selected because of the serious responsibilities they assume in dealing with people and their personal problems. Integrity, emotional stability, a capacity and desire to learn are essential qualifications. We would be grateful for your help in this regard.

Your early reply will be advantageous to the candidate since we cannot consider the application until the file is complete.

I know the applicant: ___ very well ___ fairly well ___ superficially

Please state the nature and length of your contact and the extent of your opportunities to assess the qualifications for this applicant:

Please mark the appropriate box:	Outstanding	Above Average	Average	Below Average	No Basis for Judgement
Personality traits which speak to initiative, integrity, dependability
Academic or intellectual ability
Ability to relate to others
Ability to deal with new ideas, creative abilities
Quality of ability to write and speak
Emotional stability and maturity

PLEASE RESPOND TO FURTHER QUESTIONS ON REVERSE SIDE OF THIS SHEET.

If the applicant has worked under your supervision, we would appreciate an evaluation of her/his performance and your frank opinion of the likelihood of her/his success in a graduate school of social work.

How do you evaluate the applicant's identification with social work and a readiness for social work education?

Where might this applicant have her/his greatest difficulty (for example: social situations, intellectual pursuits, financial situations, family support, rigidity)?

In your opinion, what makes this candidate outstanding and especially promising among applicants who may appear to be equally well qualified? If for any reason you have substantial reservations about the candidate's potential for success in graduate school, please explain.

If necessary, feel free to add additional sheets to complete questions. Thank you for your time and interest.
