Centering Rights over Rescue: Rethinking Criminal Justice Approaches to Sex Trafficking and the Sex Trades

Lindsay Gezinski, PhD, MSW, MA

Wednesday, January 17, 2024 | 12:00 pm – 1:00 pm (MT)

Online via Zoom (Zoom link provided prior to event)

Criminal justice strategies tend to dominate anti-trafficking efforts, yet they may result in the criminalization of survivors themselves. By centering the rights of survivors over their rescue, Dr. Lindsay Gezinski encourages a nuanced reconsideration of carceral tactics. Dr. Gezinski will provide an overview of sex trafficking that addresses the complexities of this issue, challenges prevailing myths and stereotypes, explores interpersonal and structural violence, and promotes rights-based approaches to combat exploitation.
